Homoeopathic Medicine Transmission through Hair -A boon to Humanity

Abstract

Introduction: Case studies conducted by me on Homeopathic Medicine

Transmission, which is known as the "Sahani Effect", as discovered by Dr B.Sahni, Patna. My interest developed in this subject after coming in contact with

Dr.B.Sahni and Dr.M.K.Sahani. I studied and experienced in detail and practised, eventually achieved outstanding results. This mode of treatment is helpful for even distant patients as no physical presence is required. This mode can be utilized even in countries where the use of oral homoeopathic medicine is banned. My purpose of presenting is to demonstrate the evidence-based cases treated by Drug Transmission through varied cases during my clinical practice.

Literary Review: With literary review, I observed that this mode is within the preview of homoeopathy. Dr Hahnemann has pointed out the dynamic way of action of medicine in Footnote of Aphorism 11, of 6th edition of Organon of Medicine. He states about the DYNAMIC INFLUENCE - he clearly said, homoeopathic medicine is nothing mechanical or material, and compared that it acts just as a piece of iron attracted by a magnet.

We homeopaths are well aware about dynamic influence

- Dynamic influence of planets over human health, we have remedies where patients are getting affected by moon faces , at sea side, during thunderstorm etc
- Dynamic mode of preparation of Medicine– imponderabilia, Imponderable remedies are a small group of which are considered to be manufactured from a dynamically, immaterial energetic source. The most well-known of these include X-ray, Radium bromatum (Radium bromide), Electricitas (electricity), Sol (sunlight) and Luna (moonlight), Magnetis poli ambo (magnet). These sources have no mass. Imponderabilia medicines are most powerful and deep acting. They are well represented in Clarke's Materia Medica and Allen's Materia Medica of Nosodes and magnets is in Materia Medica Pura.

Medicine. According to Albert Einstein, Energy can neither be created nor destroyed, but it can only be transformed in another form. Energy can be transmitted as an active substance. Similarity exists with other different distant therapy, yet Dr Sahni's method is specific as it proves to be the extended mode of drug administration, as observed by Dr Hahnemann in Organon of Medicine.

Material and Methods: The study has been conducted at my two clinics in Utter Pradesh. All case study processes followed were classical case taking, reportorial analysis, selection of medicine, and administration of selected medication through the Hair taken out from the patient's body.

- We educated patients on this type of application of this system.

- Case history gets collected from the patients as per the case taking most classical to Homoeopathy.
- Each case history was then analysed to select proper rubrics for the selection of the Homoeopathic Medicines.
- Each case is then repertorized using the RADAR software available at the centre, and medicine is selected.
- A strand of HAIR is taken out, either cut or uprooted from the head of the patient.
- Selected medicine is taken in fifty millesimal potencies and diluted in water in a 5ml vial, and ten strokes were given.
- This vial is ready for putting the Hair in it.
- A strand of Hair taken out from the patient is inserted in the vial containing diluted medicine. This is termed as "Transmitting set". It is put in a safe cupboard after placing the name of medication, date and patient's name OR code number allotted to the patient.

- When we put the Hair in the vial of the transmitting set it is termed Transmission "ON" and, when the Hair gets detached from it, it's called Transmission "OFF."
- The patient is advised to report for progress after fifteen days.

- Follow-up progress is noted when the patient revisited the clinic after fifteen days.
- Homoeopathic observation of the case is followed up, and change in medicine is made considering the action. Following changes are made depending on the result.
- No change in symptoms- ten strokes were given to the transmitting set.
- Positive progress- No change is made in the transmitting set.
- Aggravation in symptoms- Either Hair is detached from the transmitting set or waited without any change depending on the progress noted.
- Adverse changing symptoms- Transmission is put OFF and waited for change.

- When the need for change in medicine is felt either due to wrong selection or complementary medicine, Hair would be taken out from the first transmitting set and inserted in the new transmitting set containing new medicine. It has to be properly wiped out before inserting in new medicine.
- Medicine used for transmission get selected from the available pool of Homoeopathic medicine in fifty millesimal potencies.
- Principle of complementary, follow-up, inimical antidote as per Homoeopathy was adopted.
- After treatment get finished or if the patient is not reporting correctly, Hair is wiped and detached. Hence drug transmission is stopped.

Advantages of the Method :

- Distance of the patient is no bar for the patient either in first or subsequent consultations.
- In case of aggravation, simply detaching the Hair will check agg.
- It is a continuous process; the patient receives medicine till the vial containing his Hair.
- It is the quickest method of effects obtained by homoeopathy, which I have witnessed several times.
- Change of medicine is so simple that after washing Hair, put it in another medicated vial.
- The patient need not come to your office; he has only to inform us by telephone or message.
- This is the only method that can be used in religious fasting like VRAT of Hindus and RAMJAN of Muslims, without hurting the religious sentiments of patients.

- Wonderful homoeopathic cures are often wrongly attributed or blamed as the alleged use of steroids mixed with homoeopathic medicine. While opting for this method, such blames are nullified.
- There is no need for physical contact with the patient. Hence this method is one of the most effective modes of treatment in the COVID pandemic. It safeguards patients as well as patients.

Results & Conclusion: Different cases found remarkable improvement from mild to marked changes, including cure. Medicine transmission through Hair is a tremendous medical boon to humanity and is found efficacious in almost every acute and chronic case, including surgical diseases.
